Urban Street Gangs and Organised Crime Training

Urban street gangs and organised crime networks represent a constantly evolving landscape of risk - one that can entangle young people through coercion, control, and exploitation. Delivered by Safer Now, this training is offers a deep dive into the structure, behaviours, and recruitment tactics of gangs and criminal networks, exploring how they intersect with issues like poverty, trauma, identity, and systemic inequality.

Learning Outcomes:

- Develop a clear understanding of the concepts, definitions, and distinctions between urban street gangs and organised crime groups.
- Explore key criminological theories that underpin gang formation, identity, and criminal enterprise.
- Examine how urban street gangs and organised crime groups evolve, adapt, and operate.
